Leading Your Team Through Change

This virtual instructor-led program is designed to activate the people manager role within your change management practice. Managers will learn how to prepare themselves for change through a series of activities. And they will learn how to lead their team through change by embodying each of the important roles for people managers during change. The Leading Your Team Through Change program provides managers with the practical framework and tools they need to be effective change leaders.

For the Enterprise Training version, this program is available both virtually and in person.

Who Is This Course For?

Designed to build change competency in anyone who manages employees through change, this program targets front-line supervisors through to senior directors. Please note, this program is not intended for change practitioners or project managers responsible for building change management plans (please see Prosci Change Management Certification Program).
